FOREWORD

In this genealogy I have tried to trace all the descendants of John Maull who settled in Lewes in Sussex County, Delaware, in the early years of the eighteenth century, and to tell what is known of him and his wife and his antecedents.

SOURCES The record of the earlier generations is based largely on family bibles, and deed and will records for Sussex County recorded in Georgetown, and on the two books in which the late Rev. C. H. B. Turner collected a great deal of historical material concerning Sussex County. I have not tried to present the changing historical scene in which our ancestors moved, interesting as that would be, but for this must refer the reader to Dr. Turner's books and the various histories of Delaware.

The records of the later generations are based entirely on information gathered and reported to me by numerous members of the family, and to this extent the work is a cooperative enterprise in which I have only arranged the material provided by others. Fortunately many members of the family have been genealogically inclined. A few have undertaken to gather the records of a large part of their nearer connections within the family, and to these my especial thanks are due, notably to John S. Bioren, Richard P. Lochner, Mrs. Cornelius C. Marshall, Henry P. Marshall, Jr., Mrs. G. C. Maull, Miss Laura B. Maull, Miss Mary Louise Maull, Matthias D. Maull, Willman Spawn, Mrs. Roman Tammany, Mrs. Peter Whaley and John Wiltbank. Some have reported lesser segments which are still substantial, and most have given willingly concerning their own immediate families, and to all these thanks are due. The list is too long to include here. A few have failed to answer letters or have otherwise shown that they were not interested. When no information, or incomplete information, is given concerning any member of the family, it may mean that trace of this person has been lost or that the information requested for inclusion has not been furnished. No doubt many members of the family have been excluded because some one among their closer relations has not known their address or has failed to answer my inquiries.

ARRANGEMENT A separate history is given for each married member of the family, with an identifying number in case his or her line is continuing. This number is used in all references throughout the book. A list of references for source material is given at the end of each history through the great-grandchildren of John Maull (but not thereafter) so that those interested may verify the conclusions of the author.

To trace back a line, first look in the index for the person in whose line you are interested, and turn to the paragraph giving his history. His father or mother—whichever is in the Maull line—will be mentioned with identifying number. Turn back to that number, and continue the process.

To trace down a line, turn to the paragraph giving the history of the person in whom you are interested. His children will be mentioned with identifying numbers. Turn next to those numbers and continue the process.

REFERENCES Here is a list of the more frequent references, with abbreviations:

Sussex County, Delaware, deed records are referred to as "SCDR" and will and administration records are referred to as "SCWR" or "Del. Archives," in each case followed by volume and page number.

When tombstones which I examined furnish evidence of dates of birth, death, etc., this is indicated by "Epitaph."

The earliest known bible containing records of John Maull and his family was owned by him and was brought from London, England, by Captain Budden in 1749. It is referred to as the "John Maull bible" and is in the possession of Mr. Ferdinand Schey Paynter (366) of Lewes. It is reported in full with other bible records in the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania publication, Vol. III, p. 255ff, and in part in Some Records, pp. 341-43. I have examined the original, but some of the entries are so blurred that I was forced to rely on earlier copies of these entries made by others.

Other family bibles which I have personally examined are referred to as follows:

"Henry Fisher Maull bible"—in my possession.

"George Hickman Maull bible"—then in the possession of Mrs. Mary Q. Maull, Lewes, since deceased.

"James Henry Maull bible"—in the possession of Miss Laura Maull, Georgetown.

"Hickman bibles"—in the possession of Mrs. Charles C. Hickman, Lewes.

"Paynter bibles"—in the possession of Mr. Ferdinand Schey Paynter, Lewes.

"Mary Esther Marshall bible"—in the possession of Mrs. William J. Thompson, Lewes.

"James W. Marshall bible"—in the possession of Mrs. Arthur W. Marshall, Lewes.

"Emma A. Norman bible"—in the possession of Mrs. Handy M. Long, Lewes.

"Edward Maull bible"—in the possession of Franklin Maull, Lewes.

"Mary Marsh Maull bible"—in the possession of Miss Caroline Maull, Phila.

"Caroline Maull bible"—another old bible in her possession.

Numerous other family bibles were the basis for information reported by many members of the family, but I am unable to identify the bibles.

ABBREVIATIONS You will note many abbreviations throughout the book such as b. for born, m. for married, d. for died, dau. for daughter, cem. for cemetery, p. for page, etc. When the name of a town is given without the addition of the name of the state in which it is located, the town is in Delaware. Philadelphia, Pa., is the only exception to this rule.

LOST LINES In the course of the two centuries covered by this record and the large families found throughout, it is natural that there are persons of whom all trace has been lost. I should be very happy to have any information concerning these lost lines which readers can supply, as a matter of general interest and for reference in the future.

APOLOGIA I am not a professional genealogist, but have worked at this book as a hobby. It is offered for the interest and enlightenment of the Maull family, without responsibility or warranty on my part as to the facts presented. Mistakes have no doubt been made by myself and by collaborators. Handwriting is hard to read; two people spell the same name differently; conflicting reports on the same subject are received from different people; different persons have the same name; and in transcribing several times the mass of names and dates included in this material, it would be unnatural if a few slips were not made. I can only ask forgiveness for any errors, and I will be glad to receive any corrections or additions.

BALDWIN MAULL.

HIS WIFE, HIS CHILDREN AND HIS ANTECEDENTS

(1) JOHN MAULL was born Nov. 28, 1714. I could discover no record of the place of his birth, of the names of his parents, of his arrival in America or in Lewes, or of the place whence he came. Some say that he was born in Derbyshire; that he came from England or that he came from Holland; that he came to this country with his father in a ship commanded by Captain Dilks or Dicks sailing from Bristol to Phila., where he arrived in July, 1725; that he went to Lewes from Phila.; that he stopped in New Castle on the way; that his father died soon after they arrived in this country and he was taken to Lewes by his future father-in-law, Nehemiah Field, to whom he was apprenticed as a pilot; or that the family landed in Virginia with Lord de la Warr; or that the family descends from a Sir John Moll or Maule or an English Lord Maule; or that he was a nephew or other relative of William Penn's attorney, or was related to an English judge. Some of these stories, I know, have been handed down from generation to generation as tradition in the family but I have no way to tell what is true and what is false, as I found no actual record to support any of them. So the reader may choose which he likes.

John Maull married Mary Field Oct. 12, 1736.

He acquired 2 lots in Lewes, one adjoining Luke Shields, by deed of Jan. 16, 1739, from Margery Miers, widow of James Miers of Sussex Co., and one adjoining Nehemiah Field dec'd and Jonathan Bailey, by deed of May 3, 1742, from James Claypool of Sussex Co., Yeoman. He held these 2 lots until his death when they passed to his children, who joined in vesting the entire interest in his son John Maull (3). They were then described.

"One of ye afsd. Lotts of Land is situated Laying and Being on y Banck of Lewes Creek in ye County afsd. Beginning at a post on y Branch of Lewes Creek afsd. being a corner of Luke Shields & running from thence south west one Hundred and sixty Perches Thence south East five Perches to a Corner Post thence north East one hundred and sixty Perches to a post on ye Banck of Lewes Creek afsd. Thence North west five Perches to ye first mentioned Corner Post Containing Five Acres of Land & The Other Lott is also situated on the Banck of Lewes Creek afsd. Beginning at a Corner Post on ye Banck of Lewes Creek afsd. being a corner of ye Land Belonging to Joseph Bailey which formerly Belonged to Jonathan Bailey late Deceased father to ye afsd. Joseph Bailey and running from thence south west two hundred feet to a corner Post Thence South East sixty feet to a corner Post thence North East two hundred feet to a corner Post on ye Bank of Lewes Creek afsd. Thence North West along ye Bank afsd. sixty feet to ye first mentioned corner or Place of Beginning."

John was a pilot—so described in 1739, 1742 and 1748—living in Lewes which was then as now the headquarters of many Delaware Bay and River pilots. England was then at war with France, and privateers were raiding English commerce off the Delaware Capes. Pilots were found to guide enemy as well as friendly ships. The General Assembly of the Counties of New Castle, Kent and Sussex upon Delaware—as Delaware was then known—passed an "Act providing for the security and defence of the town of Lewes, in the County of Sussex, within this government," which among other things forbade pilots to conduct any ships up the Delaware River or Bay without a permit. As a result of this act, John Maull joined with other Lewes pilots on April 11, 1748, in petitioning the President of the Government of the 3 counties for relief from this burdensome interference with their business:

"April 11th, 1748.

A petition from the Pilots using the Bay & River of Delaware was read in these words, viz:

'To the Honourable Anthony Palmer, Esqr., Presidt of the Government of the Counties of New-Castle Kent, and Sussex, on Delaware & Province of Pennsylvania.'

'The humble Petition of the Pilots, Inhabitants of the County of Sussex, on Delaware.

'Whereas, Your Petitioners, as well Pursuant to an Act of General Assembly of this Government as Your Honour's late Proclamation, are prohibited going on board any inward bound vessell in the Bay & River Delaware, which said Act & Proclamation your Petitioners are fully convinced are justly Calculated for the safety of this Government, and therefore willing to pay all due obedience.

'And Whereas, The Pilots that dwell in the Government of New Jersey (from a false Representation of Your Petitioners having Lycence to Cruise for Vessells & go on board the same as Pilots) are not restrained by any Law of that Government, but, as Your Petitioners are informed have leave to Cruise and go on board vessells as Pilots, & daily do the same within the Bay & River aforesaid, which in its Consequence may prove prejudicial to this Government and likewise prevent Your Petitioners acquiring a Competent support for their Familys, for Your Honour may be assured that no inward bound Vessell will call at Lewes for a Pilot when any other may be had Cruizing off.

'Your Petitioners therefore humbly entreat your Honours Interest and Friendship with the Government of the Jersey for restraining the Pilots of that Government in such manner and by such measures as may be thought most expedient, not only for the safety of this Government but that Your Petitioners may have an Equal Chance for their livelyhood in their proper Employments; And Your Petitioners shall ever pray.

'Wm. Field,
'Luke Field,
'Samuel Rowland,
'Samuel Rowland, Jun.,
'Wm. Rowland,
'Simon Edwards,
'John Baily,
'John Maull,
'John Adams.'"

John was evidently very active and loyal in this situation, as on June 2, 1748, he was commissioned by the President and 4 members of the Council of the Province of Pennsylvania to command an Intelligence Boat and to wear an English Jack:

"By the Honorable the President & Council of the Province of Pennsylvania.
"To Abraham Wiltbank of Lewis Town, Pilot, Greeting:

"Whereas, by reason of the Bay & River Delaware being now greatly infested with the Enemy's Privateers, we have judged it necessary that some fit & proper Persons shall be forthwith employed & Commissioned to observe & give us constant Intelligence of the Motions & Designs of the said Privateers; And We have thought you fitly qualified for that purpose, & confiding in Your Loyalty, Vigilance, & Integrity, Do hereby Grant Commission to authorize and appoint You the said Abraham Wiltbank to fit & command an Intelligence Boat for the purposes aforesaid, & therewith immediately to proceed & continue to pass & repass down & up the said River & Bay (During our Pleasure) in order to discover, observe, & get all the Information & Intelligence you possibly can of the motions, force & designs of the said Privateers or other his Majestie's Enemies, & from time to time bring or Transmit to Us with the utmost Expedition full Accounts and Advice thereof, Hereby giving and granting to You License and Authority during your acting & continuing in the same Service to hoist & wear in Your said Boat A Red Pendant with two white Cresses, and for your so doing this shall be your Warrant.

"Given under our Hands in Council & the Lesser Seal of the said Province, at Philadelphia, the 3rd of June, in the Twenty-first Year of His Majestie's Reign, Annoqz Domini, 1748.

"Anthony Palmer."

"Another of the same Tenor was Signed to John Maule authorizing him to wear an English Jack."

On Oct. 2, 1749 John Maull signed, with 5 other freeholders of Sussex Co., on behalf of all freeholders of the county, a return of the election of the Sussex Co. representatives to the General Assembly.

Death occurred on July 27, 1753 and burial in the Churchyard of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church at Lewes. His epitaph reads: "John Maull departed this life July 27, 1753 aged 38 years."

Mary Field, his wife, was b. Aug. 1, 1719. After his death in 1753 she m. their neighbor, Luke Shields. He also was a pilot, and was reported taken by a French privateer which he boarded in 1747, relying on its English colors. She d. Sept. 20, 1796. She is believed to be a descendant of Nehemiah Field, who held numerous public offices in Sussex Co., including appointments as Clerk of the Orphans Court and Deputy Register (Register of Wills) in 1682, Clerk of the Peace in 1693 and 1704, Prothonotary and Recorder in 1694, and a Member of the Provincial Assembly in 1697 and 1699. Nehemiah d. between 1705, when he was superseded as Deputy Register, and 1714 when his 2 sons and heirs deeded property to his widow. He had married Rachel, widow of Norton Claypoole, in Sussex Co. on Dec. 6, 1689, and they had issue Nehemiah Field, b. Dec. 20, 1689, and William Field, b. Dec. 25, 1693. Letters of administration for Rachel Field's estate were granted Jan. 24, 1718/19 to her son William Field of Pilottown. Their son, Nehemiah Field m. in or by 1711, Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Page of Sussex Co., and were presumably the parents of Nehemiah Field (d. 1756, aged 46 years, buried St. Peter's Churchyard) and Mary (Field) Maull.*

John Maull and Mary Field had issue:

(2) Nehemiah Maull b. Oct. 15, 1737.

Elizabeth Maull b. Nov. 27, 1739. d. June 3, 1753. It is said that she died in fright from an Indian looking in at the window as she lay sick in bed.

(3) John Maull b. Oct. 9, 1742.

(4) James Maull b. Oct. 3, 1744.

Henry Maull b. Apr. 9, 1747, d. Aug. 9, 1748.

(5) Mary Maull b. May 4, 1749.

(6) William Maull b. May 6, 1752.

THE NAME The name is so uncommon that it is not listed in some of the books on names. S. Baring-Gould in Family Names and Their Story says that the name Maule is from a town in the Vexin François; Guarin de Maule came over with the Conqueror, and received the Manor of Hatton and some other lands in Cleveland; the name remains not only in its original form, but perhaps also as Moll. He also lists as Scandinavian names Maule and Moll, derived from Maull, Danish Möll, occurring in 1209. We know that the name Maull occurs in England and Germany and I have heard that it is now found in Holland and Denmark as well.

* Information concerning the Fields is found in the following records:—SCDR: A-1-209; 4-271; 1-290; 4-105; 4-166; 4-152; 6-92; 1-264; 9-30. Earmarks, p. 143. Some Records 100, 111, 137, 122-23, 144, 139, 40, 124, 125, 133, 149. Rodney's Diary 94. Scharf 411, 1210, 1211.

ORIGIN While I can say nothing definite concerning the origin of John Maull, there are several possibilities which should be mentioned as interesting speculations. In considering them you must understand that Colonial spelling was not exact and that to some extent the names Maull, Moll, Maul and Maule were confused and interchanged.

1. MAULE. It is said that there was a Lordship of Maule in the Vexin François, 8 leagues from Paris, A. D. 996 and for 4 centuries thereafter. A younger son of this family accompanied William the Conqueror to England and there acquired the Lordship of Hatton in Yorkshire, and other lands. This family acquired further lands in Scotland and England and by marriage acquired the Baronies of Panmure and Benore. They were strong Stuart supporters and for this reason their estates were attainted and sold at the time of the expulsion of the Stuarts from England. So far as is known, Thomas Maule is the one member of this family who founded a family in the United States. He went first to the Barbadoes, left there in 1679 for New England and settled as a merchant in Salem, Mass. He was a Quaker, courageous and outspoken in his belief even in Puritan New England, as he had a considerable controversy with Cotton Mather in the course of which he published several tracts. He left a son John Maule, who went to Philadelphia about 1700-1, married Charity Jones and had a son Thomas Maule, who is the only surviving child of whom there is a record. This son married and left a large family which is still found in and around Phila.

The possibility that John Maull of Lewes was a part of this family must be considered seriously in view of the proximity of neighborhood and the similarity of names, even though there is no direct evidence of such a connection.

2. MOLL. John Moll is often mentioned in the colonial records of Delaware, from the 1670's to his death in 1701. He was a prominent resident of New Castle, and later of Cecil Co., Md. He was several times a magistrate in New Castle and a justice of the peace and was a member of William Penn's first provincial Council, and of a later Council. He was also a Commissioner for Cecil Co., Md., and was recommended for Justice of the Provincial Court in Maryland but disqualified as an alien. He was a man of education, a large land owner and a slave holder, a merchant trading in Virginia and Maryland as well as locally. He was involved in the development of the Labadist colony at Bohemia Manor, although probably not an actual member of the Labadist society. He and Ephraim Heermans were named attorneys for the Duke of York, to transfer possession of what is now Delaware to William Penn. He himself described the ceremony in his official record of the transaction:

"On the first arrival of Penn at New Castle from England in October 1682, the commissioners considered for twenty-four hours the deeds which Penn showed them from the Duke of York, and then, by virtue of the powers given us by the said letters of attorney, we did give and surrender in the Duke's name to Mr. Penn, actual and peaceable possession of the fort at New Castle, by giving him the key thereof to lock upon himself alone the door, which being opened by him again, we did deliver to him, also, one turf with a twig upon it, a porringer with river water, and salt, in part of all that was specified in said indenture, and according to the true intent and meaning thereof."

He is said to have made a clock, which was brought back from Holland (where it had been sent to have the movements put in) to New York about 1880 by an antiquarian named Edward B. Humphries.

His origin is not surely known, having been sometimes attributed to England and sometimes to Holland. Dankars and Sluyter, who visited New Castle in 1679, described him in their journal:

"As regards Mr. Moll, he lived in his youth at Amsterdam, in order to learn the business. He afterwards went to Bristol, in England, where he carried on a reasonably large business which he had begun to do at Amsterdam. In the war between England and Holland he lost so much that he failed, or made an agreement with his creditors. He, therefore, immigrated to this country, and after trading in Virginia and Maryland some time, came to New Castle to live, where he has two or three plantations, upon which he raises tobacco, more for the purpose of paying his creditors, as he himself informed me, than because he seeks this manner of gain and life, intending, as soon as he can release himself, to go and live upon the land, and support himself by what God may be pleased to give to him. Touching the hope of grace discoverable in him it is very slight, although he has listened with attention to all we have said to him, requesting us to continue, and that he might be favored with a letter from us on the subject, or some books such as we might deem necessary, and willing, with a full heart, to do us every service in his power in these quarters or elsewhere, as he had done many, and endeavored to do still more. The wife of Mr. Moll is an English woman, a pious independent. When he married her, she lived in a large house where many persons dwelt together, separate from all other assemblies and the attachments of the world, seeking nothing except to serve God in peace and uprightness, and having their own preacher and other ministers. But with all this she remains a great mundane, as to which we have spoken to her. They have only one son."

He was described as a resident of Bristol, England, in a license granted him in 1671 to travel and trade in Maryland. The fact that he was chosen to act for the Duke of York in the transfer of Delaware to William Penn suggests that he may have been known in England as a Stuart supporter and may have been a member of the Maule family mentioned above.

John Moll was married twice. By his 1st wife, Christiana, who died between 1690 and 1695, he had one son, John Moll Junior. By his 2nd wife, Katharine, he had 3 children, Cornelius, Katharine and Jacob. He died in 1701, leaving a will and codicil mentioning his wife and 4 children. His widow married John Jones.

John Moll Junior was also a landowner, and was probably a member of the Labadist group for a time. He was a pew holder in St. Paul's Parish in Kent Co., Md., in 1720. His wife's name was Elizabeth. There is no record of his death, and I have heard that he returned to England some time after his father's death.

It is quite possible that John Moll Junior was the father of John Maull of Lewes. The senior Moll's connection with Bristol compares with the tradition that John Maull sailed with his father from Bristol in 1725, although of course Bristol was a general port of exit for the colonies. There are also vague traditions in the family tying John Maull and his father to William Penn and to New Castle, which also accord with this theory, in view of John Moll's residence at New Castle and his part in the transfer from the Duke of York to Penn. If this is so, John Moll Junior is probably the J. Maul who was buried at Christ Church, Phila., October 10, 1728, and the father of John Maull of Lewes.

3. OTHERS. Estinen Mol, a Frenchman, came to the Patuxent River in Maryland with Master John Pory, Secretary of Virginia, about 1623. Adam Moll, a tailor, aged 19 years, was a passenger to New England in 1638. Ryer Lammerson Mol held land at New Castle in 1657. Ariaentie Moll married Lewin Dewind in New York on May 26, 1698. Jan Jansz Mol was a passenger to New Amsterdam in 1660 and Dirck Mol in 1661. Friederick Maul and Anna Elizabeth Maul (a widow) were living in New York City in 1710. There is also a Roger Mall of Cohansey, N. J., whose will is dated May 8, 1730 and probated Jan. 18, 1744, and who founded a family known variously as Moll, Maul, Maule and Maull. Benjamin and Henry Moll were living in Frederick Co., Md., in 1776. A number of Mauls and one Maull landed at Phila. from the Palatinate between 1732 and 1754, as a part of the great German migration of those days. Mauls and Maules were numerous in the neighborhood of Phila. at about that time, probably descended from the Thomas Maule mentioned previously. Maules were prominent in North Carolina in the early 1700's, holding several public offices from about 1720 to about 1770. A Mr. Maul with 4 white females was listed in the 1790 census as resident in the Charleston district of North Carolina. Maulls have more recently emigrated to this country from Germany and settled in northern New Jersey and in St. Louis, Mo., and one has come to this country from Volinsk, Russia. No doubt further search would indicate many more early settlers having names similar to Maull.

THE FAMILY FORTUNE Most American families have a tradition of a great fortune awaiting them across the seas, and the Maull family is no exception.

My great-aunt Mary Elizabeth Maull (see #53) and others have told me of a family story that the Maulls had a fortune in England which would revert to the Crown if not claimed within 100 years, that Nehemiah Maull (2) set out for London as the representative of the Maull family with all the necessary papers to substantiate their claims, but he was drowned in a shipwreck on the Delaware and the papers went down with him. This shipwreck was given as the origin of the name of the "Miah Maull Shoals" which are now marked on the charts of Delaware Bay and River.

Harry M. Maull (305) says that his father was approached personally by Maulls from England who said that there was a fortune there and who wanted a contribution towards financing the claim.

Laura Maull (see #80) remembers that as a young girl, after the death of her father, she destroyed papers which included correspondence with England concerning a possible claim to a fortune there.

Celia Walls Layton (216) says that an aunt used to tell her the story that 2 of her uncles went to England for a fortune but went down on the Pea Patch (an island in the Delaware river) as they were returning.

James H. Maull (#88) has heard that the Maulls had a claim to land on which Buckingham Palace stood and needed, in order to prove the claim, a family bible which was in the possession of a very old lady who refused to part with it, saying that it was worth more to her than the fortune; and that 2 brothers sailed up Delaware Bay to what is now known as "Miah Maull Shoals," where their vessel struck and 1 of them was killed, the other returning to Lewes.

Investigation in England by a professional genealogist would probably throw further light on John Maull's origin and on the source of these stories. I am hopeful that some day a member of the family will be willing and able to arrange for such an investigation.

(2) NEHEMIAH MAULL, son of John Maull (1), was b. Oct. 15, 1737. He m. March 19, 1763 Mary Moulder, b. Dec. 23, 1745, dau. of Robert Moulder and Mary Grubb of Lower Chichester (now Marcus Hook), Chester Co., Pa. She was a sister of his brother James' wife Jane. Nehemiah d. between 1780 and 1786. He is said to have gone down in a shipwreck on the Delaware on the "Miah Maull Shoals" on a voyage to England (see p. 13).

He was listed on Oct. 11, 1775 as a "Chevaux de Frize Pilot," authorized to take vessels through the obstacles placed in the channel of the Delaware River below Phila. during the Revolution. His oath is quoted in Colonial Records of Pa., v. 10, p. 377:

"We, Michael Dawson, James Roberts, Joseph Gamble, William Molleston, Daniel Gorton, William Marshall, Nehemiah Maule, John Snyder, Matthew Strong, and William Ross, now of the City of Philadelphia, being appointed by the Committee of Safety Pilots, to navigate vessels, sailing from the City of Philadelphia to the Town of Chester, upon Delaware, and from the said Town up to the City aforesaid, being each of us duly Sworn upon the Holy Evangelists, do, and every one of us does declare and swear, that he will not discover to any Person or Persons, whatever, any matter or thing which he shall be informed of or entrusted with, or which he now knows, or shall hereafter acquire a knowledge of by his own skill and experience, or otherwise, whereby any Person or Persons may be taught and instructed how to conduct and Navigate a Vessel to pass through or between the Machines, called Chivaux de Frize, sunk in the River Delaware by order of the Committee of Safety. And that each of us will use his utmost skill and Endeavours to keep out of the way of, and prevent his being taken by any British Man of War, armed Vessel, or other vessel in the immediate Service of the King of Great Britain; And further, each of us do swear, that he will continue in the Service to which he is now appointed, and not depart the same until he is discharged from it by order of the Committee of Safety. And that in all things which respect his duty in the Service aforesaid, he will faithfully and readily obey and Execute all orders & directions which he shall receive from the Sub-Committee, who are appointed by the Committee of Safety to Superintend and direct his duty. Or such as he shall receive from the General Assembly of the Province of Pennsylvania, or from the Committee of Safety.

He was listed as a taxpayer in Phila. County in 1769 and 1774, described as a pilot; listed as a taxpayer in Lower Chichester in 1779 and 1780, with one horse and one cow; and included in the list of inhabitants of Upper and Lower Chichester, in the third class, in the muster roll of James White's company, probably 1780-82. His wife is mentioned in the administration of her father's estate on March 3, 1786 as Mary, widow of Nehemiah Maull.

(3) JOHN MAULL, son of John Maull (1), was b. Oct. 9, 1742. He m. March 24 or 29, 1768, Mary Marsh b. Dec. 17, 1752, dau. of Peter Marsh and Esther Purnell. He d. Jan. 9, 1832 and his wife d. Oct. 16, 1790. I have heard in the family that he was killed opposite New Castle, Del., upon falling from the mast of a ship in which he was returning from England.

He was a shipwright. He appears as a taxable in Lewes and Rehoboth Hundred on lists published for 1785 and 1813. He was chosen a vestryman of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church in Lewes for terms beginning April 11, 1795, April 9, 1798, April 14, 1800, April 11, 1803, March 30, 1807, March 30, 1812 and April 12, 1819.

John Maull was of some service to the patriotic cause during the Revolution, as evidenced by an item in an account for March 1776, between Nehemiah Field and the Council of Safety of Sussex County—"To cash paid John Maul for work and provisions launching the schooner * * * 3:9:6." His service in building a vessel at Lewes and acting as pilot of Dispatch Boat used on Delaware River and Bay has been accepted as a basis for membership in the Daughters of the American Revolution (Nos. 224,805 and 286,311).

The boat which John built is said to have been a Dispatch Boat or to have been the schooner "Farmer" which sailed from Lewes to St. Eustatia for arms. There is a story reported by Clara Wilson and Mary R. Wilson (see #55) that he commanded a small vessel with a crew of four men under the command of the Pennsylvania Committee of Safety during the Revolution, in pilot service and scout and picket duty; his boat was captured and he was taken on board the British ship and ordered to pilot her to Phila. on pain of death; he did not refuse but told his captor that having captured a Yankee he might look for a Yankee trick; after dark he ran the British ship aground on a shoal in the river, jumped overboard and swam to his own small vessel which was being towed astern, but drawing much less water was still afloat; he cut the towing rope, freeing his own boat, and sailed away to safety. I have not found a record of his employment by the Pennsylvania Committee of Safety, but it is not unlikely that he worked with his brother James (4) who is known to have been in patrol service for the Committee with a boat and a crew of four.

John Maull, Shipwright of Sussex Co., received from his brothers and sisters title to the land on Lewes Creek described as formerly belonging to their father John Maull (1), by deed of Nehemiah Maull (2) and wife Mary and James Maull (4) and wife Jane, of Sussex Co., Pilots, dated Aug. 14, 1769, and by deed of Samuel Edwards of Sussex Co., Pilot, and wife Mary (5) and William Maull (6) of the same place, Shipwright, dated Jan. 29, 1774. He in turn transferred lands in Pilottown, to his son John Maull, Jr. (11) by deeds dated March 24, 1800 and July 16, 1806, and to his two sons Peter Maull (10) and John Maull, Jr. (11) by deed dated Oct. 4, 1815 (SCDR:L-57, L-377, W-75, AB 25-399, AI 32-247).

He obtained a lot on Lewes Creek by deed of David Ranken of Sussex Co., Cordwainer and wife Mary and Daniel Murphy of the same, Pilot and wife Hannah, dated April 1, 1770. He also secured 131 acres of land on the road between Cold Spring and Lewes, about 4 miles from Lewes, by deeds of Jan. 14, 1783 from the executors of John Wiltbank and of June 10, 1795 from David Johnson and Joseph Johnson of Worcester Co., Md., which he transferred to Daniel Rodney of Lewes by deed dated May 4, 1801.

He secured a piece of land not exceeding 200 acres on Bailey's Island in Lewes Creek, known as "Maull's Purchase," opposite to his other land on Lewes Creek, by land warrant of March 3, 1794, survey of 1796, and patent dated Jan. 22, 1801. This he transferred to Robert Burton of Sussex Co. by deed dated March 14, 1806.

By authority of Sir Edward Andros, Proprietary of the then Province of Pennsylvania and Counties on the Delaware, the Justices of the Court of Sussex Co. on April 25, 1689 granted 4 acres in the middle of Lewes for any public use that the court thought fitting. A part of this land was used for court house and jail and, when the county seat was moved from Lewes to Georgetown, was auctioned to Thomas McHam who sold it by deed dated Feb. 26, 1793 to a group of men including John Maull, who in turn conveyed it to the Trustees of the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Peter's of Lewes by deed dated May 6, 1797.

† A family tree formerly in the possession of Mrs. Ernest Burbage of Berlin, Md., is quoted in Miss Clara Wilson's scrapbook:—"Thomas Purnell emigrated from Berkeley, Northampton, in 1635 settled in Northampton, Virginia. Thomas II married Elizabeth Dorman in 1695. His son Thomas III married Elizabeth Hammond, also Catherine Godden, and died 1723. Children were John, John II, Elisha, Nanna, Benjamin, Elizabeth, Matthew, Thomas B. who married Mary Outten." The above 1695 marriage date must apply to Thomas III, since the Bible gives the birth on Sept. 9, 1695 of Thomas, the husband of Mary Outten. See also Baldwin's Md. The Committee of Safety in Philadelphia appointed him to patrol the Delaware River and Bay during the Revolution, under instructions as follows:

"COMMITTEE OF SAFETY TO JAMES MAUL, 1775

Philadelphia, Nov. 17, 1775.

Mr. James Maul.

The Committee of Safety judging it extremely necessary that a suitable Person, with a Boat, be station'd near the mouth of the River Delaware, to give the earliest Notice of the approach of any English Ships of War that may be destin'd against this City, you are hereby appointed to that Service, in Confidence, that you will exert the utmost Vigilance and Industry in procuring and forward Intelligence of this Nature.

You are therefore, without loss of Time, to take on board your Pilot Boat four Persons besides yourself, three of whom to be Men, and such as you have Reason to believe will be sober and attentive to their Duty, and proceed to the Thorough-fare below Reedy Island, which is to be your general Station, with Liberty sometimes to run down to the Thrum-Cap Road. In this station you are to remain until recall'd by us, observing to keep a constant Look out, both Day and Night, and setting an exact and regular Watch of two Men.

From the Receipt of Advice from Mr. Henry Fisher, of Lewes Town, or by means of Vessels or otherwise, of a Ship or Ships of War coming into the Bay, you are to come up directly to New Castle, and after lodging Information with the Commander of that Town, who will forward the Intelligence to Fort Island and to the Committee of Safety here, you are instantly to return to your Ground. But if your advices should be of a very alarming Nature, such as the arrival of several Men of War, or if only a few, but of considerable Force as large Frigates, and you are of Opinion you could as soon, or sooner, reach the Fort Island than an Express by Land, you must in that case, besides calling at New Castle, run up in all haste to Fort Island, and on coming in Sight of the Island hoist certain Signals, which the commanding Officer of the Armed Boats there is to be made first acquainted with.

If on the contrary, the Ships should be few or but of small Force, you are not to quit your Station otherwise than in running up to New Castle as above directed, until they heave in Sight. You are to apprise all Vessels of their Danger, unless it should oblige you to run out of your way in coming up to lose time in reaching it.

For these Services, you are to be allowed for yourself, Boat and Men, Twenty-five Shillings per Day.

It is impossible to instruct you how to act under particular Circumstances and Situations not foreseen by us, but we depend in all these Cases upon your Zeal for the publick Service, and on your Fidelity to the French (sic.) reposed in you, which you ought to consider as extremely important.

We are your humble Servants,

* This list is based on a sheet from a family bible of which a part has been torn off, and appears to be incomplete, according to Mr. John S. Bioren. It is an interesting speculation, worthy of further investigation, that the first child may have been born in 1767, one year after the marriage, and named James after his father. The name James Maull appears in the 1794 return of the sixth company of the first Regiment, commanded by Lieut. Col. Commandant Francis Gurney.

There is a James Maull whose origin is unknown but who died May 30, 1835 at the age of 68 years and thus was born about 1767 and would fit this hypothesis. He founded a large family in the South (on which I have only partial information) and died in Loundes County, Ala. He had a wife Mary and at least two sons, one of whom was James G. Maull, b. at Charleston, S. Car., Nov. 25, 1806, practiced medicine around Columbus, Ga., and then at Atlanta, Ga., d. at Atlanta, May 12, 1884, m. Rebecca Caroline Alford, b. in Greene County, Ga., Apr. 5, 1806, dau. of Lodwick and Judith Alford, and d. at Brownsville, Ala., Jan. 5, 1883. They had 5 children: James Lodwick Maull b. at Mt. Prarie, Loundes County, Ala., Nov. 7, 1835 and d. at Crescent City, Fla., Oct. 30, 1902, Kitt Maull d. at Sanford, Fla., George Maull, John Whitman Maull b. at West Point, Ga., Feb. 11, 1854 and d. aged 76 yrs. at Crescent City, Fla., and a dau. who lived in Atlanta and was presumably the mother of Jim Henry Haus of Atlanta, Ga. The above John Whitman Maull had 8 children: William Homer Maull of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Laurie L. Maull of Atlanta, Carl and Van Maull both of whom lost at sea in 1906, Otis Kline Maull of Brooksville, Fla., Mamie Maull m. E. R. Clinton of Huntsville, Ala., Mattie and Carrie Maull both of whom d. in Fla. The above James Lodwick Maull m. 1st at Columbus, Ga., Sept. 5, 1855, Mary Louisa Perry, d. 1857 in Fla., and had 1 dau. Sarah Blandeaner Maull b. at Maull's Springs, Russell County, Ala., Oct. 28, 1856 and m. George W. Neal. He m. 2nd in Harris County, Ga., Dec. 13, 1860 Mary Catherine Hutchinson, d. at Jacksonville, Fla. Apr. 16, 1918, aged 74, and had 8 children: Susan Rebecca Maull b. Apr. 15, 1876 at West Point (father of Lucile and Helen Maull) and James Lodwick Maull of Orlando, Fla., b. Jan. 15, 1878 at West Point, Ga.

Samuel Edwards of Sussex Co., Pilot and wife Mary, and William Maull (6) of the same place, Shipwright, gave a deed on Jan. 29, 1774 to John Maull (3) of Sussex Co., Shipwright, for land of their father John Maull (1), late deceased.

Samuel Edwards' will, dated June 8, 1801 and probated in Sussex Co. May 17, 1804, mentions Mary Edwards his wife and Esther Maull (16) his niece; executrix Mary Edwards, his wife; witnesses, Robert Shankland, Philip Rowland and Joseph Maull.

Of these greataunts, b. 1796-1802, one took care of her blind Aunt Betsy Maull, b. 1768, another married her 1st cousin, son of Robert. Thus from immediate family knowledge, we have Robert, Elizabeth and Nehemiah as brothers and sister. A bible quoted by Mrs. Leonards gives Nehemiah's death in 1817. Mrs. Blackburne also located this and his birth in 1774 in the Bazelee bible; she states he was known as Nehemiah Jr. and she owns the certificate of his 2nd marriage in 1806.

Thus we have conclusive proof identifying Nehemiah, the husband of Mary Keen and Mary Marot, as Nehemiah, b. and bapt. 1774 son of Nehemiah and Mary (Moulder) Maull, the Christ Church records showing the latter couple as the parents of Robert, Elizabeth, Nehemiah, etc.

We must therefore disregard the mystifying entry in Some Records, p. 341:

"Nehemiah Maull, son of John Maull II and Mary Marsh, married 1st Mary Keen; 2nd Mary Marrott. Issue by 2nd wife: Jane b. 1791, Ann Jane b. 1796, Margaret and Hannah. Nehemiah died Oct. 23, 1817."

This entry was published among bible records and immediately preceding entries from the John Maull bible, but examination discloses it is not contained in the latter. The expression "John Maull II" does not appear in the records of that time and is evidently a modern interpolation, made because the Nehemiah in that bible was the one b. 1777, son of John, Jr. The last mentioned Nehemiah was too young to have had issue in 1791, several records place the first mentioned Nehemiah's marriages in 1795 and 1806, so that the 4 daughters b. 1791 on according to this mystifying published entry are still unplaced.

James lived in Georgetown and was among other things a postmaster of Georgetown, Sheriff of Sussex Co. in 1823, Treasurer of Sussex Co. in 1830, listed as a taxable in Georgetown Hundred in 1833 when that hundred was created, Trustee of the Poor of Sussex Co. in 1836, and at one time landlord of the old-time tavern "Rising Sun" in Georgetown. He ordered manumitted a negro Diannah aged 6 years "after serving me and my heirs for the full term of 22 years" May 8, 1817, and on Jan. 23, 1819 he gave Thomas Rodney a bill of sale for an 11 yr. old negro boy named Cye or Cyrus, sold for $200. Probably this was a son of the negro boy Sires whose b. on March 11, 1779 is recorded in the John Maull bible, with that of a twin girl named Gene, as children of Absalom and Rose.

Peter was listed as a taxable in Lewes and Rehoboth Hundred in 1813. John Maull Sr. of Pilottown, shipcarpenter, deeded land in Pilottown Oct. 4, 1815 to his two sons Peter and John, shipcarpenters (SCDR:AI 32-247). Peter Maull and wife Mary and John Maull the 2nd (11) and wife Sarah of Sussex Co. conveyed land in Pilottown to Selby Hitchens of Lewes March 5, 1833. Peter Maull Sr. was named administrator of the estate of Peter Maull Jr. June 30, 1834. The will of Peter Maull of Lewes, dated Apr. 1, 1852 and probated in Sussex Co. March 8, 1855, named his wife Mary Maull and his son Joseph Maull, both to be executors, and also his dau. Lyddy Hickman; witnesses Samuel E. Paynter and Richard Paynter (SCWR:11-206).

In Some Records it is stated:

"Jerome Bonaparte was a guest in the old Peter Maull house. He had been recalled to France by his brother Napoleon. On account of the British blockading the Bay the French vessel could not leave. In the meantime a furious storm drove the ship ashore on the point of the Cape. Jerome with others escaped drowning and he was cared for at the Peter Maull house."

The W. P. A. Guide to Delaware gives the same story at p. 206 but mistakenly places the incident at the house of Thomas Maull (46):

"At the house occurred a brief but cherished episode in the famous romance of Jerome Bonaparte, brother of Napoleon, and the lovely Elizabeth (Betsy) Patterson of Baltimore. On their way back to France in 1803 their ship ran into a storm and was wrecked off Lewes. The bride and groom were taken in by the Maull family, and Mme. Bonaparte's soaked wardrobe was hung on the line to dry. A legend is that when they sat down to a dinner of roast goose, Betsy's beauty was lighted by her own silver candlesticks—which she had sent a messenger to get from the stranded ship."

This story is repeated in different form in The Bonapartes in the New World—E. M. Oddie, London 1932, pp. 42-43:

"* * * They arranged to sail in the Autumn of 1804, and, boarding the ship Philadelphia in the harbor from which she took her name, they embarked for Cadiz. The party, which consisted of Betsy's aunt, Nancy Spear, and the bridal pair, were more or less prepared for the buffeting of fate, but they did not anticipate that their adventures would begin with a shipwreck in the Delaware before they lost sight of America. All escaped with their lives. Betsy, floundering in the water, greatly hampered by her best clothes, was the first to be rescued and hauled into a boat.

They were rowed ashore and one of the residents of Lewes offered them hospitality and shelter. Miss Spear fell on her knees and thanked Providence for their merciful escape from death. Betsy was too concerned about the possible damage to her trousseau frocks for prayer. She scandalized her aunt by running backwards and forwards to the yard where her fine clothes had been hung up to dry, in a state of considerable agitation as to how much elegance had been soaked out of them. But neither the adventure nor her anxiety about her wardrobe impaired her appetite for the roast goose and apple sauce which was served for dinner. * * *

*Her ancestry is recorded in a letter which she wrote to her nephew Joseph Byers, son of Harriet Webb Byers, of which a copy is found in Miss Clara Wilson's (see #55) scrapbook:

"Milton, Del. Apr. 2d, 1841.

"My dear Nephew.

"With feelings which I cannot now describe, I received your letter, for I had come to the conclusion that I was forgotten by you all: Your letter has revived many pleasing recollections of my youthful days and the mother whose memory you still love and respect. You wish me to tell you something about my parents and my own history. I had the misfortune to lose my father at the age of five years, of course I can not say much of him from my own memory. I will begin with my Grandfather on my mother's side. My Grandfather, whose name was Samuel Thompson, was a Scotchman. He left his native country to enjoy the free exercise of his religious principles in the new world, and settled in New Jersey, and called their settlement Scotch Plains. He had a good farm, and it was there that my mother, the youngest of his children, was born. He had several daughters, none of whom lived to the age of maturity, but my mother and one sister named Phebe. My grandfather died early in life, before the Revolution. My grandmother lived very comfortably until she again married, a young man from New York, by the name of Markee, who soon compelled her to send her children away. My mother went to New York to live with a wealthy Aunt by the name of Baird (?) whose husband was a merchant. Aunt Phebe went to Philadelphia to live with grandmother's brother, a Mr. Whitehead, who was keeper of the work house or prison. She soon after married a Captain Firth (?). My mother became acquainted with my father at his uncle's. My father at that time was master and owner of a fine brig called the "Action" (Active?). They were married at Uncle's and lived in New York until War was declared. The British soon got possession of New York. My mother remained there, expecting to hear from my father, who was at sea during this time. On his return he was captured by the English, himself put on board the prison ship lying at New York and his vessel sent away. He was kept six months on board of the prisonship, and not allowed to communicate with the town, so that all this time my mother heard nothing from him, he was then sent to Stonykill prison in the Island of Jamaica, where he lay twenty two months, suffering every kind of hardship. At length, he with several men broke out, and were received at the house of a widow, and by the assistance of some Free Masons, my father got back, a destitute man, with a constitution broken by confinement.

"In the meantime Mr. Markee had treated the old lady so badly, that she left him and came to New Castle to live with her daughter Phebe. Markee afterwards made a sale of his stock, and went away, nobody knew where.

"He found means to write to mother and let her know the sad reverse in his situation and requesting her to come to New Castle to live. On receipt of this letter, mother got leave from the commanding officer to go with her children, but had to leave her furniture behind.

"She had lost all hope of my father sending her money. She got back to New Castle and was kindly received by her friends, she immediately built a house and kept her children at school. In the latter part of the war my father came home. Captain Firth offered him a berth on board his vessel, which he accepted. He made several voyages to a place called Stico (?) (original Stieico) one of the Dutch Islands. On their way down the Delaware they were taken by a Refugee barge. My uncle Firth was mortally wounded, my father slightly. The refugees were then taken to New York,

There is a reference in Rodney's Diary to one of his boys:

"July 12 1817 Friday morning a small Schooner was unloaded and the Cargo put in Thos Howards cellar, &c &c &c She was brot up the Creek by Messrs Howards and L West Cust^m H Officer, and Thurs^y she was brot from Cape May as tis sd by Howds boat Elizabth in whom was Robt Howard, Rich^d Bebe and Harry Maulls boy—who say three men, one seemed to be an Officer, hailed them at sea, followed them into Cap May, wanted their Skiff to land in, they refused them, and a Chebucco Boat com^g in the got on board, and took with some Money and other articles, threw some overboard, and was going to scuttle the Schnr—but they begged her of them and brot her to Lewes. He went to sea again, made several voyages and then came home, and with a firm belief his days were numbered, and did not survive long. The last thing I remember of him was his asking my brother to read his Bible to him. He gave us his blessing and advice which I shall never forget.

"Mary Bedford Webb Maull"

Miss Clara Wilson said that Mary Bedford Webb's mother married again and had one child; that the 2nd husband went away with his child after his wife's death, leaving the Webb children to shift for themselves; and that Mary Bedford Webb was raised in the household of Gunning Bedford at Cape May, being nearly of the same age as his daughter and very intimate with her.

Jacob Webb was born within a stone's throw of Bunker Hill, according to family tradition reported by Charles H. Maull (154). (20) JOHN TRIMBLE MAULL, son of Robert Maull (7), m. Camilla Charles. She is listed in the Phila. directory of 1882. The following newspaper clipping was sent me concerning Camilla Charles Maull:

"LEMON HILL'S STORY

To the Editor of the Public Ledger:

Sir—In the Sunday PUBLIC LEDGER a week or so ago I saw a picture of Lemon Hill, with a reference to its builder and history. I want to correct statements made therein. My great-grandfather, Sir William Charles, built it. He was a publisher and engraver, with his office at Fourth and Chestnut or Walnut streets. It was he who imported the oval windows and doors and the silver knobs. He also owned the site of the Union League Club when it had a house on it and a garden in front.

The record in the old family Bible, still in possession of my aunt, Laura C. Maull, bears this out. My aunt was the daughter of Camilla Charles Maull, who was the daughter of Sir William Charles and Lady Mary Graham Charles and was born in Lemon Hill, then Chestnut Grove house, in 1812. Sir William and Lady Mary were married at St. Mary's Church, Lambeth, February 26, 1803. Sir William was drowned August 9, 1820, and Lady Mary died suddenly January 24, 1822, leaving several children, the oldest only fourteen. They didn't know the value of legal papers and destroyed the deeds to Chestnut Grove house. The city later took it over for taxes, as well as the house on Broad street and a big lot at Broad and Spring Garden streets. The business was taken over by some one who crossed out Sir William's name and put his own in, so the children received nothing. Neighbors took them in and gave them a good education.

(79) DAVID WILLIAM MAULL, son of George Wooley Maull (26), was b. at Georgetown, May 16, 1831. He m. in Wilmington, April 28, 1870, Mary K. Buck, b. A graduate of Jefferson Medical College in 1853, he practiced with his father in Georgetown prior to the war and thereafter in Wilmington where he made his home. In the Civil War, according to Scharf and Runk, he was listed May, 1861, as a Lieutenant of a Georgetown company, known as Company G of the First Regiment of Del. Volunteer Infantry, May-Aug. 1861, and upon the reorganization of this regiment on a 3-year basis, as Regimental Surgeon, Oct., 1861; in 1864 he was made Surgeon-in-

Chief successively of the Third and Second Division of the Second Army Corps., continuing until the close of the war, and then was appointed U. S. examining surgeon for pensioners and president of the examining board.

W. H. B. wrote as follows in the Medical & Surgical Reporter, March 28, 1896:

"Dr. Maull, starting with a liberal education, his character and disposition showed evidence in later life of that peculiar admixture of strength and kindliness, which so often results from hardship and self-sacrifice, the portion of all upright men, who passed through the late war. During that period he was Chief Surgeon of the Second Division of the Fifth Army Corps. He enlisted as a private, afterwards becoming captain, and later, regimental surgeon. Besides being a physician, the deceased was a writer of some note. He was a member of the State Medical and various other societies, including the Delaware Historical Society, and until failing health rendered it impossible, took a lively interest in all the various interests and enterprises, as well as benevolent and charitable institutions of his city. At the time of his death he was also connected with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and Children. With the death of Dr. Maull there is a vacancy in the medical profession of Delaware which can not but be felt. Belonging to the old school of self-reliant men, upheld by native intelligence, liberal education and carefully developed character, he occupied a position in the profession, which, unfortunately, not enough members are holding today. As most of my readers are familiar with Ian MacLaren's Doctor of the Old School they will understand to what I refer. He was a friend, counselor and confidant to his many and attached clients."

He was then special agent of the United States Land Office traveling through the west for four years. Upon his return he spent the rest of his life in Lewes. He was in business and was a member of the school board and borough treasurer, and also was elected Insurance Superintendent for the State of Delaware.

* Rev. James Allen's story is told in the Minutes of the Phila. Annual Conference of the M. E. Church for March 26, 1851: "James Allen was born in Worcester County, Md., Dec. 22, 1811. His parents died in his early youth, and he entered as an apprentice to business. He was converted in 1832, and united with the M. E. Church. * * * He entered an academy and spent most, if not all his patrimony, in educating himself. In 1837, he was received on trial by the Phila. Conference, and stationed upon Cambridge circuit. He labored subsequently upon Princess Ann, Laurel, Centreville, Talbot, Salisbury, and Dover circuits, and in the Ebenezer station, in Phila., where he finished his life, and his short, yet faithful, useful, and popular ministry, on the 27th of August last, in the 39th year of his age, and the 13th of his itinerary."

He is also mentioned in the History of Ebenezer Methodist Episcopal Church of Southwark, Phila., printed by J. B. Lippincott, 1890:

p. 156 "Pastor 1849-50, James Allen (John Woolson, Supernumerary)."

p. 118 "In 1849 Rev. James Allen was appointed pastor. He was comparatively a young man, but had manifested the possession of great ability. His fine physical proportions added to his effectiveness as a speaker. His fine physical proportions added to his effectiveness as a speaker. He was a man of great independence of character, but capable of attracting and securing the love of his people. His death in 1850 was sincerely mourned by the whole church; and regard for him was shown not only in draping the church in mourning and in pronouncing eulogies upon the deceased, but also by the substantial gift of $1,000 to his family. It is noted as a curious coincidence that the text of Mr. Allen's last sermon was from Amos. 4th chap. 12th verse, Prepare to meet thy God."

It is said in the family that Fannie Allen was a member of the Tathem and Custis families of Virginia, but the connection is not authenticated.
